Copyright of the Heritage Link Collection

- Some photographs are not copyrighted to Heritage Link but to various private rights holders and organisations – however in some cases Heritage Link has negotiated a license with these rights holder for very permissive non-commercial use (including use on websites and social media platforms).
- Currently, Heritage Link has limited information regarding rights ownership of its collection. A Rights Audit is currently underway to address this, and new procedures have been written to ensure any future acquisitions include transfer of copyright, or at least document rights ownership information in a centralised, accessible place.
- All the watercolours held which are part of the Old Woodhouse Collection by Peter Lyons are solely copyrighted to Heritage Link.
